Portraits and Tablets in Richmond County Court

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
LANCASTER, VA., December 12.—
Years ago, when the Hon. T. R. B.
Wright became judge of this Circuit, and when there was nearly twice as many counties in the circuit as at present, he set on foot a movement to have the walls of the courthouses in the circuit decorated with the portraits of the worthies of each county, and also to have tablets placed on the walls giving the names of the clerks of the courts and the colonial and Commonwealth's attorneys of the respective counties. All the counties except Richmond took up the work, and carried it to successful completion.

And now Richmond county, after having held back for years, has fallen in line, and on January 3, that being the first day of the winter term of the Circuit Court, two fine portraits will be unveiled at Warsaw, the county seat, one of Robert E. Lee, the other of Stonewall Jackson. There will also be unveiled at the same time two beautiful marble tablets bearing in letters of black and gold, one the names of the court clerks, and the other the names.

The other tablet is donated through the Circuit Court to Richmond county by the O. J. Howell Company, Pleasant-ville N. J.
